1. Leverage Offered

Rinxo offers dynamic leverage levels of 100:1, 200:1, 500:1, and up to 1000:1, depending on your account equity and the instrument being traded.

2. Equity-Based Leverage Adjustment

- If your account equity is below $1,000, you are eligible to use leverage up to 1000:1 or 500:1.
- If your account equity exceeds $1,000, your leverage will be automatically reduced to 200:1.
- Rinxo reserves the right to adjust leverage levels at its sole discretion based on account balance, trading activity, or market conditions.
- Such changes may occur without prior notice and may affect your margin requirements.

Client Responsibility

You are solely responsible for fully understanding how leverage works and for continuous monitoring your account's equity, available leverage, and margin requirements. Rinxo is not liable for losses due to leverage changes or insufficient margin.

Key Implications of Leverage

- Amplified Profits and Losses: Gains and losses are calculated based on the full value of your position, not just your margin.
- Market Volatility: Even small movements in the market can have a significant effect on your account balance.
- Rapid Account Depletion: High leverage can result in rapid loss of capital, and you may be required to deposit additional funds on short notice to maintain your position.
- Margin Calls and Liquidation: If the equity in your account falls below the required maintenance margin, you may be subject to a margin call and/or have your positions automatically liquidated without notice.

4. Risk Warning

Trading with leverage involves high risk which can lead to losses greater than your initial deposit. As it increases your market exposure, it can also result in larger price swings and greater risk.

Additionally, the use of leverage does not guarantee profits and may result in substantial losses. Engaging in leveraged trading is inherently speculative, and you may lose some or all of your investment. You should trade only with the money you can afford to lose.

Before deciding to trade on a leveraged basis, you should carefully consider your investment objectives, level of experience, and risk appetite.
